Truman's Friends Join GOP to Defeat Brannan Proposal

Predict Farm Plan to Lose in Final Vote

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Some of President Truman's best friends in Capitol Hill today joined a Democratic-Republican coalition bent on beating down his farm bill. It calls for a three-crop trial run of the Brannan plan of direct farm subsidy payments.

As the house assembled for the opening of the better farm law debate, this happened:

Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.), who has carried many of the administration's economic battles—including wartime OPA—in congress, issued a formal statement assailing the Brannan farm plan as a dangerous step that would lead ultimately to a peacetime OPA.

Rep. Rains (D-Ala.), a south-erner who has supported Mr. Truman's labor bill and housing legislation, called upon the administration to withdraw its support of the farm bill embodying the Brannan plan trial run, lest it split the Democratic party.

Called Booby Trap

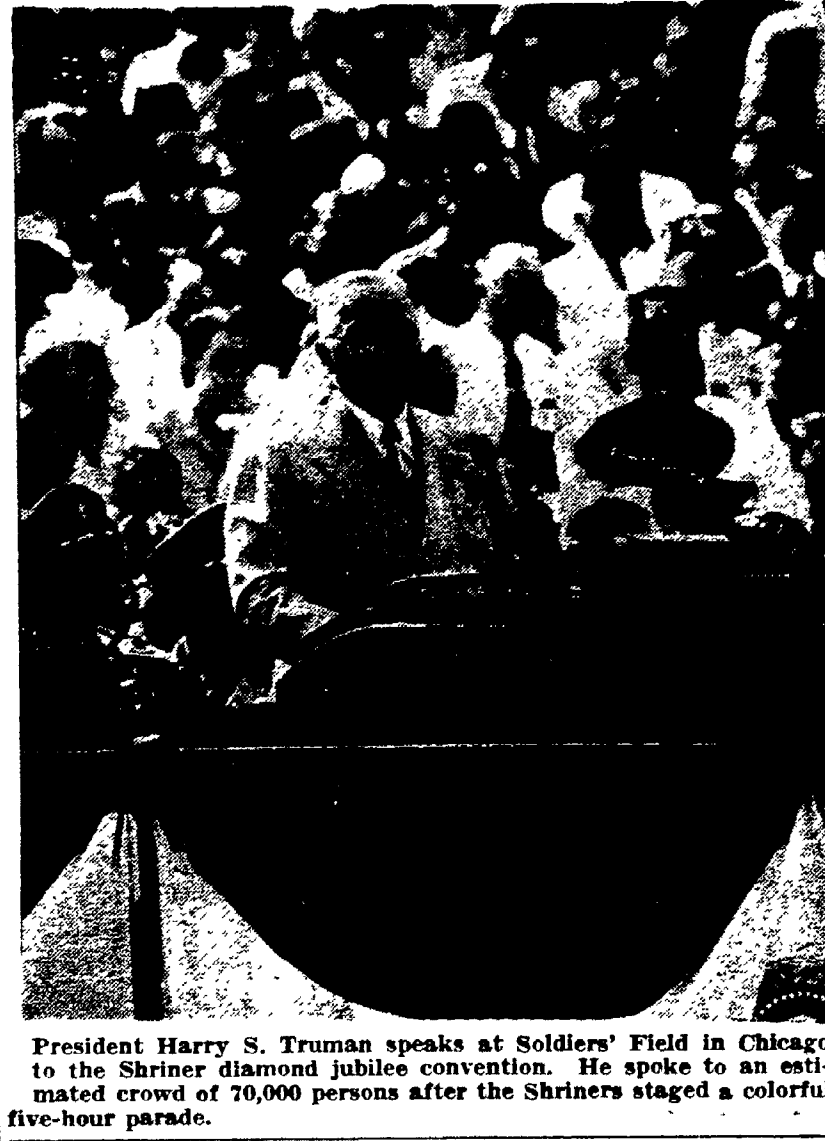

"This legislation is a booby-trap for the farmers," Rains said in a formal statement, "and if adopted is certain to boomerang against the Democratic party."

"The farmers of this country are unwilling to discard the present agricultural program, with its concept of parity, for a consumer's subsidy."

One highly placed Democratic senator told reporters privately that there "won't be any Brannan plan trial run." Others on the

Corn-Borer Warning Issued; Grasshoppers in State, Too

Champaign, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—Illinois farmers should start preparing to battle a record number of second-generation corn borers within three weeks, a University of Illinois entomologist said today.

Dr. G. C. Decker, insect specialist, advised farmers to be ready to spray DDT or Ryania as soon as borer eggs begin hatching. Later treatments are less effective, he said.

In Cocoon Stage

"They are now going into the cocoon stage and will emerge as adult egg-laying mothers in about 10 days to two weeks. A day or two after they emerge, they will lay eggs. These eggs will hatch in four or six days."

Decker said grasshoppers are starting to move into Illinois corn and soybeans and "the danger is greater than many farmers realize." He added:

"Rains took the peak off the grasshopper infestation and evidently lulled everyone into a false sense of security. But there are plenty of hot spots, like grain and legume fields, that need attention right now."

Hoppers Are Big

"The surviving grasshoppers are getting pretty big, and are nearing the size when they can do a lot of damage in a few days," he said.

Decker advised spraying against grasshopper this week.

This was Decker's weekly report on borer conditions:

Marino, Music Teacher, Held as a Murderer

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—An indictment charging a Blue Island music teacher with murdering his young fiancée was reported yesterday to have been voted by a Cook county grand jury.

The girl, Joan Coward, 17-year-old high school student, died June 28 of strangulation and a beating while police attempted to revive her.

She had been taken, unconscious and almost nude, to the Riverdale police station by Arthur Marino, 27, who police said, told a story of robbery and supposed rape by two men.

Refuses Lie Test

Alex Napoli, assistant state's attorney, called Marino's story "fantastic" and said the music teacher had refused to make a lie detector test of the case.

Marino appeared at the station, officers said, with his mouth and throat burned and a shirt draped around his waist. He was unable to speak and wrote out a statement that the two men approached his car as he and Miss Coward sat in it near a clay pit.

The statement related, police said, that the men robbed Marino of $32, forced him to disrobe, swallow some ammonia which they had and then stand in the water-filled pit for 45 minutes. While in the pit, Marino said he fainted and supposed that Miss Coward was raped by the men while he was unconscious.

Bought Ammonia

Napoli said the grand jury heard witnesses who testified that Marino had purchased a bottle of ammonia the day before the girl's death and that he also had borrowed a dollar shortly before the ammonia was purchased.

Fred Mohr, a policeman of near-by Dolton, told the jury, Napoli said, that he had passed the scene at the pit twice within an hour of the time Marino said the robbery occurred but that he saw no automobile there.

State's Twins to Meet Sunday at Starved Rock

Ottawa, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—More than 300 sets of twins are expected to attend the 10th annual Illinois twin convention Sunday at Starved Rock state park near Ottawa.

"It looks like this will be the biggest aggregation of human duplicates ever assembled," said Mrs. Marie Galley of Ottawa, secretary.

"Not only that, but we expect a number of triplets and quadruplets, who will be special guests," she said.

Highlight of the event will be a twins parade followed by coronation of twin kings and queens and awarding of numerous special prizes. Music will be provided by six bands.

New Prowler Scare Noted in Township

Mr. and Mrs. Don Schaffer who reside on a farm in South Dixon township, about three and one-half miles south of Dixon on the Pump Factory road, were awakened at 4:15 yesterday morning by a stranger who was heard by Mrs. Schaffer to be wandering about in the living rooms. She awakened her husband who went to investigate and found two doors open and heard the unwelcome visitor depart through one of them.

Mr. Schaffer made a search of the premises but failed to find any trace of the house prowler and an investigation disclosed that nothing had been taken and no report of the incident was made to the sheriff's office.

Sewer Bids Are Opened

They were as follows:

Polich and Frank Inc., of Peoria, bid $36,975.15; Gaskill and Walton Construction Co., 17th. and Main St., Crete, bid $36,849.25; Normoyle and Berg, of Rock Island, bid $36,192.50; E. M. Schifff Co., Elgin, Ill., bid $35,958.85; and Cassidy Construction Co., 228 North La Salle St., Chicago, bid $31,431.80.

All of the bids were placed on file for one week at the City Hall, for public inspection.

Cloud Burst Gives St. Louis 'Big Pain'

St. Louis, July 20.—(AP)—A cloudburst hit the St. Louis area at going-to-work time this morning. About three inches of rain fell in an hour, from 7 a. m. to 8 a. m. and delayed busses, street cars and automobiles as sewers and underpasses overflowed.

The wind was up to 50 miles an hour, and there was extensive damage to trees and wiring. Union Electric Co. called out every man available for emergency work and assembled a crew of 350.

The rain was so hard it blocked vision, and many drivers stopped and waited.

National Guardsmen Patrol Florida Town Racked by Mob

Groveland, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—An uneasy, bayonet-backed peace settled today over this community racked by mob terrorism of negroes.

Last night passed comparatively quietly. Warning shots were fired at two men—one a white robed klanman—and several cars approaching the town were halted.

The night was in marked contrast, though, to Monday night, when armed mobsters shot and burned their way through negro areas. Then three negro houses were set afire and a heavily armed mob of white men was scattered by a tear gas bomb.

Robed Man Escapes

Capt. Stanley Gaylord said a national guard sentry fired two warning shots over the head of a white robed man near Groveland. Gaylord said the man escaped, despite efforts of highway patrolmen and a reconnaissance plane to spot him.

Several cars, with lights out, approached the community, but fled when challenged.

Another two shots were fired by another guardsman. He said he used them to emphasize a warning to an unconvicted citizen that

Mickey Cohen, Body Guard and Three Others Are Hit by Shots; Conditions Serious

Los Angeles, July 30.—(AP)—Gangsters' gun fire early today cut down gambling czar Mickey Cohen and three other persons—including a state-appointed bodyguard for the dapper hoodlum—as the party left a smart Sunset strip cafe.

None of the party was killed but all were in serious condition, including Harry Cooper, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California attorney general.

The other victims were Miss Dee David, and Edward (Neddie) Hertert, a Cohen henchman. Herbert escaped 11 gangland bullets only a month ago as he was entering his apartment.

A Key Figure

Cohen is a key figure in the sizzling grand jury inquiry into police vice tieups which already has resulted in a wholesale shake-up of the Los Angeles police department.

Only yesterday Attorney General Fred Howser disclosed that he had assigned Cooper to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had expressed fear that eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Barney Ruditsky, co-owner of Sherry's restaurant, where the shooting took place, said everybody was leaving the place when the shotgun charges rang out and "Copper yelled 'I'm hit'."

Ruditsky, a former New York City detective, said the shots came from across the street in the vicinity of the Bing Crosby building which serves as offices for the various enterprises of the crooner.

Columnist Hit

Miss Florabel Muir, widely known newspaper columnist, was among those on the sidewalk. A shot went through her sleeve and grazed her arm.

Doctors at the Hollywood receiving hospital said that Cooper had a 50-50 chance to pull through. He received two shots through the abdomen. Cohen, who got hit in the shoulder, was reported in serious condition. Herbert also was reported in critical condition, one shot reportedly severing his spinal cord. The girl was shot four times in the back but her condition was reported the best of the four.

Cohen, who fronts as a Hollywood haberdasher, has had many brushes with the law and several with assassins' bullets. Police grilled Cohen extensively in the Bugs Siegel killing of two years ago but nothing ever came of it.

Before his election to the four-year mayoral term last April, Somers had been in the refrigerator repair business here. He was the city's second Democratic mayor in 35 years.

Sheldon P. Fritz Is Nabbed on Reckless Driving Count Here

Sheldon P. Fritz, 20, 402 East Second St., was arrested at 12:30 a. m. this morning, at Ninth St., and Lincoln Ave., on a reckless driving charge.

Fritz was said to be involved in an automobile accident at the above intersection, with a car driven by Harold Withey, Rt. 3, Dixon. Withey signed the complaint.

According to police records, Fritz was driving his car in a reckless manner and was unable to control his car that struck Withey's car. Police Officers William Killian and Glen Camery Jr., made the arrest. Police court action for Fritz is expected late today.

Plunges to Earth When Motor Fails

Seattle, July 20.—(AP)—An air transport with 32 persons aboard crashed into five houses last night in a takeoff from Seattle's Boeing field.

The coroner's office reported many hours later that six bodies had been found in the wreckage of the twin-engined C-46 and the debris of the wrecked homes.

Miraculously, most—if not all—of the persons aboard the Chicago-bound, non-schedule plane escaped with their lives. Most of the victims were believed to have perished in the houses.

A failure of one of the engines was blamed for the catastrophe. The plane, unable to gain sufficient altitude quickly, hit power lines above the Georgetown district in Seattle's south end. Then it plummeted into the houses below, carrying death and destruction with it.

Cutting of power lines threw the area into darkness, broken by the eerie sputtering and flashing of the dangerously dangling wires.

The C-46 was a two-engine, 50-passenger transport of a type used widely during the war for troop and cargo carriers.

Seventeen of the plane's 28 passengers were hospitalized with injuries. Eight others were treated and released. Three were unhurt and four were unaccounted for.

Seven residents of the damaged homes also were injured, and four firemen were hospitalized when a gasoline tank exploded three and a half hours after the crash.

The 50-passenger plane crashed seconds after it took off from Boeing field for a flight to Chicago for Air Transport Associates, Inc.

Amos E. Heacock, company president and a passenger on the plane, said both engines checked out "without a sputter" at the end of the runway.

"But soon after we got into the air one motor began sputtering and the pilot evidently thought it best not to continue. A few seconds later he pulled back on the throttle, apparently intending to land," Heacock said.

Engine Sputtered

"Then he perceived almost immediately that he could not land and pulled throttle again, continuing to climb with a sputtering engine."

Another witness said the right then cut out. The plane failed in its climb and began clipping the tops of utility poles.

Power lines and telephone wires were clipped, plunging the area into darkness and disrupting communications.

Its wide wings cutting swaths through frame houses, the plane ripped through five Georgetown homes. It buried its nose in one structure.

About two minutes later it exploded.

During that short interval, passengers jumped or were thrown from the tail of the plane that had been sheared off in the crash.

Heacock said he personally checked all seats of the plane and all passengers had gotten out before the blast. The airline president said.

Gordon Emmole Pays as Reckless Driver

Gordon Emmole, 32, 1420 Fourth St., was fined $15 and costs on a reckless driving charge by Police Magistrate Albert N. Kennedy, last night.

Mr. Emmole was involved in an automobile accident July 2, in the 200 block on Third St. He failed to report to the police as ordered, and was picked up by Tyne.

Second Closed Door Confab of VIP's on Atomic Bombs

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—A second high level closed door conference on sharing the nation's super-secret atomic weapon set Capitol Hill buzzing today.

Does the administration propose to share fully the nation's post-war atomic secrets and "know how" with Great Britain and Canada?

Will such a step, if undertaken, be done through executive agreement, or by action of congress?

See Squeeze Play

Is there a "squeeze play" on involving the nation's uranium supply the lifeblood of the atomic enterprise?

These and other questions circulated freely as the joint senate-house atomic committee prepared to sit down (12:30 p. m. CST) with state, military and atomic leaders to explore the "continuing problem" of relations with Britain and Canada in the atomic field.

The conference was announced yesterday by Chairman McMahon

(D-Conn) as a sequel to the Blair House meeting last Thursday night.

Veil Lifted

McMahon partially lifted the secrecy veil of that meeting by saying that the 16 state, military, congressional and atomic leaders had at that session discussed with President Truman British-Canadian relations in the atomic field.

But neither McMahon nor other congress members who took part in the discussion would disclose the details.

None would elaborate on the bare announcement that today's meeting would be a discussion about "the problems which lie ahead in our relations with the United Kingdom and Canada in this atomic field."

White House Favors Probe of '5 Per Centers,' Claim

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—A new congressional demand for deep probing into "Washington 5 per centers" coincided today with word from a White House official that this is exactly what President Truman wants.

This source said the president has told Secretary of Defense Johnson and Secretary of the Army Gray to "proceed with their investigation of so-called five per centers" regardless of whom it might embarrass.

"Five per centers" is a name applied to late to persons who help get army contracts for manufacturers for a commission. Some of them have been accused of saying they had influence with high officials which made their efforts particularly worthwhile.

Truman Attitude

The White House official said Mr. Truman's attitude could be summed up in two familiar sayings:

"Let the chips fall where they may," and "it is up to the army to clean its own dirty linen."

Weeds Must Be Cut or Sprayed, Warning by Forrest Shawger

Forrest Shawger, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, issued a warning relative to the cutting or spraying of weeds on private or public property today.

Said Shawger:

"Due to the fact that we are getting into hay fever time, a city ordinance provides that all weeds on both private and public property must be cut or sprayed."

"Anyone desiring to have the weeds cut or sprayed with weed killer, can obtain this service at cost by phoning the Police Department—488."

"Those who fail to have their weeds cut or sprayed, will be subject to fine, plus the cost of having this work done by the city," he said.

Senator Mundt (R-SD) demanded today that the president's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, be required to tell "whether he was just windjamming" or actually knows something about "five per centers."

Vaughan Quoted

Vaughan has said he knows "about 300 persons in Washington" engaged in contract operations.

A preliminary inquiry by the senate investigations subcommittee into allegations of the use of influence has resulted in suspension of two key officers by the army department. They are Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps, and Maj. Gen. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general.

Armed Mob of Whites Burn Homes of Florida Negroes

Groveland, Fla., July 20.—(AP)—A mob of armed white men burned down three negro homes last night in an outbreak of racial violence that terrorized this central Florida farming section.

Feeling had been running high since Saturday when two negroes were arrested on charges of raping a 17-year-old white woman and beating her husband. A third negro was taken in custody Sunday and a fourth is being sought.

As far as could be determined no one was in the buildings when the angry band set fire to them. Their occupants had moved out before nightfall.

Earlier, Lake county Sheriff W. V. McCall hurled a tear gas bomb into the midst of a heavily armed mob of about 50 men who rode through Stuckey's Still, a negro community about five miles west of Groveland, firing shotguns and pistols.

Say Negroes Confess
The three negroes under arrest have been charged with rape, kidnapping and causing bodily harm in connection with the Saturday offense. McCall said they have admitted the crimes.

He listed the prisoners as Charlie Greenlee, Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, all about 20. McCall said they orally admitted they beat and hounded Will Padgett of Groveland, then kidnapped and raped his wife early last Saturday.

National guardsmen, called out by Sheriff McCall for the second night in a row, last night ringed the Negro section here some distance from the flaming structures. There were 35 in the detachment which came here from Leesburg. The guardsmen were sent home this morning but some highway patrol cars moved throughout the section.

Groveland is about 33 miles west of Orlando.

Car Trouble
The sheriff said Padgett told him that four Negroes in a new model car stopped along his automobile which had been disabled by engine trouble. He said they first offered assistance, then hit him over the head, took his wallet and drove off with his wife.

A mob of about 100 men gathered at the Lake county courthouse at nearby Tavares Saturday night but the two prisoners in custody at that time had been moved to another jail.

The crowd left but returned here to drive throughout the streets of the Negro quarter, firing several shots into a restaurant and one of the houses burned last night. Officers said no one was hit.

For the past three nights, most of Groveland's 400 Negroes have left their homes before nightfall, returning during the day to their jobs.

Ku Klux Klan pamphlets were distributed from automobiles Sunday night as the guard was called out for the first time.

School Growth in Area Told

Waldo B. Ames, chairman of the education committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, has completed the compilation of an interesting table which has been forwarded to all chambers of the state. The chart has been prepared to warn school officials of the school enrollment to be expected within the next few years and asks the questions:

How difficult will it be for your schools to handle the student enrollment in the years ahead?

Do you know what the probable enrollment will be in your community in 1952?

Are your schools crowded now? Is the supply of competent teachers adequate to meet your needs at present?

If not, how serious is this problem likely to be in another five years?

These questions are of paramount interest to Illinois business and education leaders. In an attempt to get some of the answers, the Education Committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce secured figures of births by place of residence during the period 1941 to 1948 inclusive, for the 102 counties of the state with separate figures for cities of 10,000 or more population. In counties in the northwest section the figures were compiled as follows:

Middletown Loses 107 Year Landmark

Middletown, Ill., July 20.—(AP)—The Logan county village of Middletown is losing a landmark—a poplar tree that has stood on the town square for 107 years. The tree is nearly 20 feet in circumference.

Legend has it that Mrs. Colby Knapp, a Middletown pioneer, took a green poplar branch her husband used as a riding whip and planted it in 1842.

Nearby is one of the oldest brick buildings in Logan county.

The coyote may have three to 10 pups in a litter.

Sixty-six species of birds are enemies of the cotton boll weevil, reports the National Wildlife Federation. Among these are the Bobwhite Quail, Red-headed Woodpecker, Bluejay, and the Oriole.

Returning of American War Dead Big Job, Almost Done

Washington, July 20—(AP)—The task of returning home the bodies of Americans who lost their lives overseas in the second world war is about done.

The army said today that only about 10,000 of the definitely identified whose relatives wish them brought back are still awaiting shipment.

In the two years since the program began more than 150,000 bodies have been brought home for final burial.

In addition the army has been bringing bodies from far-flung battlefields for interment in permanent American military cemeteries overseas.

It has been the greatest undertaking of its kind in history. It is estimated to have cost up to now about $170,000,000.

No other country which took part in the last war pledged itself on as large a scale as did the United States to abide by the decision of next of kin as to final burial of their dead.

Congress in May, 1946, provided that the next of kin could decide whether the remains were to be finally interred in an American military cemetery overseas or be brought back and buried in a private cemetery or in one of the military cemeteries in this country.

Finish Job In 1951
The army quartermaster department was designed to carry out the huge program. It is to be finished by Dec. 31, 1951, congress said.

In the summer of 1946 cards began going out to next of kin to determine their wishes. At the end of last month, a total of 254,956 survivors had been sent forms to fill out.

Of those who have so far replied, 62 per cent asked to have the bodies returned. Of this number, 50 per cent wanted their loved ones buried in private cemeteries and 12 per cent asked they be interred in Arlington national cemetery or in other military cemeteries over here.

Thirty-seven per cent asked that the bodies be buried in military cemeteries overseas. About one per cent requested that the bodies be buried in private cemeteries in a foreign country in which the survivors reside or of which was the birthplace of the deceased.

The army found that these percentages are very similar to the results of questioning next of kin after the first world war.

For second world war dead five cemeteries are being established in France, two in Belgium, two in Italy and one each in England, Holland, Luxembourg, North Africa and in the Philippine Islands. Bodies that were buried along the lines of fighting are being reinterred in these cemeteries.

As interments are completed, control of the cemeteries is turned over to the American battle monuments by the army. This commission already has supervision over the eight American military cemeteries of the first world war.

To Dedicate Cemetery
The New National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, located at Punchbowl Crater, Honolulu, will be dedicated Sept. 2, the anniversary of V-J Day. Some 14,000 are being interred there.

About 104,000 identified war dead will be interred in American military cemeteries outside the United States. Some 13,000 unidentified dead will also be buried in these cemeteries. Efforts are still being made to identify as many of these as possible.

No identified dead have been brought back to the United States.

However, groups of dead—those whose remains the army cannot identify individually but can identify as a group—are returned to this country for burial in a national military cemetery. The cemetery selected is one most advantageously located for the majority of the next of kin.

Deaf Mute Tells of Suicide Pact He Did Not Keep

Tulsa, Okla., July 20—(AP)—A deaf mute described in sign language yesterday how his wife died in a suicide pact that the failed to keep.

He told officers he lost his nerve after his 27-year-old wife, also a deaf mute, killed herself with a shotgun.

Samuel L. Billups, 32, said in a statement to Assistant County Attorney James P. Devine that he and his wife, Vivian, agreed to take their own lives, using two shotguns.

"She fired first," the statement said.

"I was to use the other shotgun. I picked up my gun, but then I looked at her.

"My God, I couldn't stand the sight of her dead, nor could I go through with it. I stood there a few minutes, then threw my gun down and ran away."

The statement said that his wife was ill—"she just couldn't get well and said she would rather die than be sick."

Billups was charged with aiding a suicide. He pleaded innocent at his arraignment. A preliminary hearing was set for July 26.

Tackles Skunks, But of Course, He Loses

Smith Falls, Ont., July 20—(AP)—Two out of three is not a good batting average as far as skunks are concerned.

William Fowle, riding in a car which came on three skunks, leaped to the attack. He got one by stomping on it and another by nailing it behind the ear with a bottle.

The third fought back as only a skunk can. Fowle came home sitting out on the front fender of the car.

Ernest Bevin Leaves for Health Resort

London, July 20—(AP)—A foreign office spokesman said today British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin will leave this week-end for a 14-day rest at a continental resort. Diplomatic officials said he is taking the vacation on orders of his medical advisers.

Before investing in an electric mixer make sure you have at least a square foot to allot to it on the kitchen mixing counter, and about 16 inches of space between counter and wall cup board, and an electric outlet nearby.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

How deeply rooted must unbelief be in our hearts when we are surprised to find our prayers answered.
—Hare.

Management Should Prepare Itself
Better for Bargaining with Unions

Cyrus Ching, director of the Federal Mediation Service, says he thinks it's fair to conclude that unions come to the bargaining table better prepared than employers.

He told the United States News: "I think they (the unions) frequently have a more persuasive background of figures and facts, whereas the employer, though well and ably represented, is frequently unfamiliar with the statistics of the industry, or the area, or the practices in other establishments."

Ching cannot easily be accused of pro-labor bias. He was once labor relations director of the United States Rubber Company. Furthermore, his mediation service gets an inside look at more labor disputes than any other agency sees.

Thus management's labor relations experts ought to feel some embarrassment at his statement.

Ching thinks too many employers are not properly prepared for bargaining because they still consider labor relations a side issue.

On the other hand, he believes that union negotiators often acquire wide familiarity with an industry's problems just from their repeated appearances in conferences with many firms in the field. Management, of course, cannot duplicate this experience.

A further management difficulty is that top executives nowadays bear a tremendous load. Many argue they are so burdened with having to make fast, accurate business decisions that they have virtually no time to see their job in any real perspective.

They don't always know all they should about their own company. They may never even glance at reports in trade papers or other sources that tell how the rest of the industry is handling particular problems.

Anyone can sympathize with their dilemma. But however great the load, it still seems fair to ask employers to arm themselves with the fullest possible information when they sit down with union leaders.

Management owes this much to itself, to the unions and to the public which wants a fair settlement of any dispute affecting the general welfare.

For all their burdens, employers have matchless facilities for assembling data pertinent to wage and other negotiations. If they fail to use them, they come handicapped to the bargaining table.

No fair-minded citizens care to see either management or labor at a disadvantage when they face each other. The two should meet on an equal footing. That means balance not alone in strength but in preparedness.

The Wonder Boy of Politics

Whether you agree or not with Senator Taft on the issues of the day, you have to admire his forthright honesty. He will say and do what he thinks is right even if it means political suicide.

Already this year he has stirred labor's enmity anew by leading the congressional fight to block repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Now he has come out against the North Atlantic Treaty on the score that it is inseparably linked with a foreign arms aid program he thinks points toward war. In so doing he has aroused the wrath of many who believe the reverse—that the treaty would be a powerful deterrent to war.

Facing a bitter election fight in 1950 and still nursing presidential hopes, Taft could easily have avoided a stand calculated to generate further opposition. He chose instead to act on his convictions.

Right or wrong, Taft is a refreshing spectacle in an arena where expediency, opportunism and private advantage are so often the guiding factors.

Voice Of The People

The views expressed in this column are those of our readers and do not necessarily represent those of the editor.

WE HEAR FROM HARMON

Harmon, Ill., July 17, 1949.
To the Editor,
Dixon Evening Telegraph,
Dixon, Ill.

In reading this column it proves that dissatisfied people make the best American citizens. A newspaper can sway public opinion. They have us fighting Russia and when the baseball season opens Stalin couldn't get his name in the paper unless he hit sixty home runs. Maybe the press is mightier than the sword but I happened to be at a stop sign last winter when a row started, and our editor can tell them fellows don't win all their rights either.

This law on dogs was defeated, good thing. They can get all the dogs they want without making the sales legal. There is a lot of sentiment for dogs, but the cow is the foster mother of the human race and when she gives out her usefulness, what happens? Hamburger. I felt like a cannibal when I helped eat our old family cow. Thirty years ago if you had diabetes, you asked the undertaker what his prices were and tried to look disinterested. Since then 17 million people have lived almost normal lives, thanks to the use of chemicals that work on dogs similar to the way it works on people. Insulin was discovered at the Columbia-Preston Medical center, Brooklyn. At the Jewish Institute in Brooklyn they are experimenting in the chambers of a dog's heart. If this is successful we will have a new way of combating the number one killer, heart disease.

Blue Baby Cases
At the Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago dogs have been used to perform the surgery necessary to save the lives of scores of blue babies. That fellow that said he never saw a blue baby dog won't, either, unless he drinks too much and then you are liable to see turkeys with straw hats on.

Young medical students have got to perfect these delicate operations on something. These dogs are well taken care of and for their aid to humanity they are the most valuable dogs in the country. In fact, their dogs stole the show in New York, over the blue-bloods.

I like dogs, I told the missus last fall. I'm going to buy the best coon-dog I can get if I have to pay $100 for him. A few days later the ex-owner told her any time I was dissatisfied I could have that $100 back for that dog.

You know, contrary to statistics, married men don't live longer than other men—it just seems longer. They have left out the obey in marriage and not too long from now the minister will say, "When I pronounce you man and wife get in your corner and come out fighting."

Attention, Supervisors

Thanks to our editor we know where our tax dollars go. Maybe it would be a good thing if we did not elect any more duck hunters for supervisors or don't elect them for anything else. Mr. Hey thought it was nice to have all these fellows in dad's footsteps. You know what I found it was that made them doctors and other professions. If you should happen to come out to see us, stay on the cement or you run a good chance of your rear end going out!

Higby seems to be a good fellow. I always thought they should have had a picture of him planting that flag on the north side of the court house like that poster that showed the Marines raising the flag on Iwo Jima. We do not have a doctor in our town and these county nurses are very necessary. Anyway, "Hig" don't know any more about medicine, socialized or otherwise, than a pig does about waltzing. We are going to raise kids out here and it is a lot of overhead for somebody, but if anyone thinks it makes the taxes too high they are welcome to come out and put a stop to it (I mean the taxes).

Why a paper should pay Pegler for that "bla" he puts out and then charge a fellow $1.00 to advertise for a lost tom-cat when anyone knows that a tom-cat was never lost in his life. He has to make calls—there is no such thing as an old maid cat. Maybe he is worried about that cat that hangs around the tavern and has different colored kittens every year, or how that snippy cat in the next block would look in a bathing suit if she would take off her fur coat. Anyway, he will come home.

Who'd Shoot Santa Claus?
A fellow said he knew Truman would get elected and won a lions contest. Of course, there are a lot of fellows who would kill the goose that lays golden eggs, but you never did hear of anyone wanting to shoot Santa Claus. When a fellow that thinks Muscle Shoals is a wrestler, or Monroe Doctrine was one of our first presidents, but still is smart enough to make $15.00 a day who would he vote for? I guess they figure they could vote for Dewey any time.

Maybe we are holding ourselves up by our boot tops but as long as we got boots we are all right. When a fellow gets so he can take two full raps in his neck some body is going to try to stop girls from wearing shorts in public. It is a man comes out like that and prances a little they run him like a wild beast. I often wondered if a girl would run. If she didn't a fellow would be in a heck of a predicament.

I cured a patient of a week old case of hiccoughs. I gave him a quart of salts. It worked. He was afraid to even hic. But that's why they call me

"Doc."

WANTS MORE SIDEWALKS

419 E. Graham St.
Dixon, Ill.
July 18, 1949
The Dixon Telegraph

Dixon, Ill.
Dear Editor:

This letter should go to the committee that is working to make Dixon a more beautiful city. We have lived in Dixon about six months. I'm very taken up with Dixon, such a pretty place, on the prettiest river I've ever seen. We lived near Rock river before as we used to live in Janesville, Wis.

We came from Baraboo, Wis., so we've been to see the Dells of the Wisconsin river and the beautiful state park at Devil's Lake. Dixon, the Rock River and Lowell Park are just as beautiful to me.

This is my only idea about beautifying Dixon: Why not build some more sidewalks? I have a little girl that I like to take up town in her stroller. I can't find sidewalks to wheel her on and I'm at a loss as to whether I should stay in the street or go on people's lawns with the stroller. The lawns run right out to the paved or gravel streets. Then my little boy runs along with me and I have to keep an eye on him to see if he's at the side of the street or getting in the way of cars. I'm used to sidewalks for the school children and people to walk on.

I've gone past houses that have been built for years and not a sign of a sidewalk in front of it. I'd appreciate a little more sidewalk in the city of Dixon and I am sure the school children would, too.

Thanks to the committee to make Dixon beautiful; every city needs just such a group.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert Ramsey.

ARE CITY BUSES CHECKED?

Mr. Bryn Griffiths,
City Editor, Dixon Evening
Telegraph,
Dear Sir:

The "Vox Pop" of The Telegraph has become the most interesting part of the paper, and I think that it is high time that I make a contribution. Mine will not be small talk about what you print on the subject of nude actors and why not send one to Polo, but rather it will be a sane contribution, with a definite object in mind.

I would like to know how often the city buses are checked over—a thorough check-up, including stop lights. Quite a few weeks ago I noticed that the stop light wasn't working on the bus that I always catch up to on First St. At the time I thought perhaps it was only a temporary oversight, but time has passed and nothing has been done to correct it. Wait till someone is injured in a collision, dents in his grille, or bangs up a fender, then we'll get action.

I'd like a little warning when I follow a bus and the driver decides to swing to the curb to pick up a fare, or stop at a rail crossing. My driving lights and stop lights have to be working, why don't theirs?

Sincerely,
Warren V. Lapham.

Arsenic Cause of Jacksonville Death

Jacksonville, Ill., July 20—(AP)—A coroner's jury decided last night that the death July 1 of Marvin Bruening, 20, was caused by arsenic poisoning and recommended further investigation.

The inquest, first begun July 2, was resumed last night after the Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory at Washington reported that arsenic poisoning was present in Bruening's vital organs.

The youth, his mother, Leah, his brother, Bernard, 23, and Bernard's wife, Marie, 23, all became ill at the Bruening farm home after a meal on May 23. All except Marvin quickly recovered.

Marvin was brought to Passavant hospital here June 4. Asked at the inquest whether she had any idea of the source of any arsenic in their food, Mrs. Leah Bruening replied she did not know but "believed it was a trap set to kill all four of us at once."

America's Card Authority

Not long ago someone said on the radio, "Ability, rather than disability counts." I was reminded of this when Sylvan Gans, secretary of the National Amputation Foundation, told me about a ball game that will be held at the Polo Grounds in New York on July 26.

On one team every player will be minus at least one arm. On the other team every player will be minus at least one leg. Even if you cannot get to see this game, the fact that you know about it should convince you that these amputees are not a liability. The National Amputation Foundation does not seek sympathy for these boys. All they want is a chance to go to work, and they will accept their pay on their ability to give a day's work.

I was telling Gans about a little game we taught some of these boys, called memory poker. Cards are one of their foremost forms of recreation. I recall that we brought a group of them over to a national tournament at Atlantic City one year ago. Their artificial limbs did not prevent them from joining in the dancing after the game. One of the boys won top score on today's hand.

On the opening lead of the six of spades dummy played the three-spot, and when East put on the jack, our soldier boy allowed him to hold the trick. East returned a spade and West won with the ace. West refused to continue a spade, and led a club. The soldier boy won the jack with the ace and then took the heart finesse. East won this trick with the king and cashed his king of clubs.

However, our soldier boy made nine tricks. Had he played the queen of spades from dummy at trick one, East would have unblocked with the jack. Now when East got in with the king of hearts, he would have returned a spade and set the contract two tricks.

Belittle Your Husband?
Don't! Use Some Sense!

"It's a common thing to hear a wife low-rate her husband, but you almost never hear a man low-rate his wife." It was a man who made that observation, and after making it asked: "Why do wives do it?"

A psychologist would probably explain it by saying the wives who speak poorly of their husbands have inferiority complexes and are trying to build themselves up by tearing their husbands down.

I think it is just a question of the wives not being very bright.

Any smart woman knows that her own opinion of her husband influences to a great extent what other people think of him.

If she takes the attitude that his opinions are wise, his judgment sound, his job important, his comfort her rightful concern, others are inclined to accept the fact that she is married to a man who amounts to something.

If she belittles his ideas, runs down his friends, tells how she

Vet Enrollments at State Schools, Off

Springfield, Ill., July 20—(AP)—Despite a sharp decline in war veteran students, summer school enrollments at Southern Illinois University and four state teachers colleges average nearly five per cent over last year.

The state registration and education department said today that 7,245 students are registered at the five institutions. In 1948 summer enrollment totaled 6,907.

The drop off in G. I. registrations was the first since the war.

He charges that Drew Pearson is trying to smear General Harry Vaughn, Truman's aide.

New York—Major General Harry H. Vaughn, President Truman's military aide, with an office in the White House, has been the victim of a campaign of violent criticism, including falsehoods, uttered by Drew Pearson in his Sunday night broadcasts and in his newspaper column. This campaign fulfills a threat expressed personally by David Katz, alias David Karr, a "leg-man" for Pearson, to Charles G. Ross, the president's secretary, in January, 1947. General Vaughn had just prevented the issuance of a passport to George C. Vournas, a Washington lawyer, who was trying to go to Greece with the Paul Porter economic mission dispatched by the president. Vournas was engaged by Pearson to send him information from Greece. Vournas is not a Journalist and he was unable to satisfy the state department that his mission would be helpful to the interests of the United States in the political and economic situation then existing in Greece. Although Katz has gone by the name of Karr for a long time he testified before the Dies committee on April 3, 1943, that he had merely adopted the name Karr but that he had not formally changed his name. He has worked on the Communist Daily Worker in New York and has written for several other Communist publications but he has always denied being a Communist.

It was a derogatory radio statement by Pearson about General Vaughn last February which evoked from President Truman the explosive remark that "any S.O.B. who thinks he can cause any of these people to be discharged by me by some smart alec statement over the air or in the paper, has got another think coming."

In January, 1947, Pearson, the Bell Syndicate, which markets his newspaper material, and the North American Newspaper Alliance, which is under the same general management as Bell, undertook to send Vournas to Greece and to Yugoslavia where drug Tito, the Communist dictator, rules. The statement that the Bell Syndicate and the N.A.N.A. operate under the same general management means that John N. Wheeler runs both of them.

Denies He's Commie

At that time, President Truman was sending an economic mission whose instruction were to avoid the fiery politics of Greece and the Balkans. Vournas says he never has been a Communist but his journey was opposed by the Greek embassy and the Greek church in Washington in direct representations to President Truman. The government of Greece has been acknowledged to be a barrier against Communism and its enemies are the Communists under the inspiration and control of Soviet Russia. Vournas said his brother, John, was a member of the guerrilla army fighting against the Greek government. He said he supposed John was a Communist. He admitted that it was his intention to get to Yugoslavia and confer with Tito and said he was negotiating with the Yugoslav embassy for credentials. In these negotiations he had help from Louis Adamic, the left-wing writer and supporter of the Tito regime. All this took place only five months after Tito's army shot down and killed five young American air force men whose plane had strayed slightly from the conventional course around Yugoslav territory.

There is in the files of the state department a letter dated Jan. 9, 1947, signed by Pearson, requesting a passport for Vournas, representing that Vournas wished to study Greek economic conditions for the Bell Syndicate. Vournas, himself, wrote in a letter that he wished to accompany the Paul Porter mission although Porter had no knowledge of this intention and, by the instructions of the mission, would have been forced to exclude him. He described Vournas and other "hitchhikers." There is also a letter dated Jan. 7, signed by Wheeler, as president of the North American Newspaper Alliance, requesting a passport for Vournas, representing that he would investigate United Nations activities and other matters in Greece and other countries in the near east.

The final scene of the Vournas incident took place in the office of Charles G. Ross, the president's secretary. Karr came to Ross with an outright threat that if Vaughn did not cease and withdraw his opposition to the passport, Pearson would begin to blast him at a nearby date, which was described as "zero hour." Ross called Vaughn and related the conversation to him. Vaughn then asked whether Karr was still there and when Ross said he was the general told him to hold the receiver so that Karr could hear his reply. The reply was: "Tell that—to go back and tell that S.O.B. to go to hell."

The "blastings" promised by Karr did not begin at the zero hour. It did begin soon afterward, however, and was continued intermittently ever since.

A "Pearson Man"
Two persons telephoned the state department to back up the application. One was Clifton Anderson, then secretary of agriculture, and then as now a "Pearson man" in the gossip and politico-social plots of Washington. Henry Morgenthau, Harold Ickes and Henry Wallace had been sources of otherwise confidential information, and received a good "press" from Pearson, Anderson, now a senator from New Mexico, said last week that he did not remember or believe that Pearson was interested in Vournas. He said he favored Vournas' trip because Vournas was going to try to arrange for a supply of margarine for the Greeks. He would also "help on wheels." So Anderson supported Vournas' purpose, as projected by Pearson, notwithstanding the fact that Porter, the head of the mission, knew nothing whatever about it. Moreover, Vournas also admitted that his about any interest in margarine or wheat but insisted that his mission was to be strictly journalistic. He then admitted that his only experience in journalism had been a term of one year as editor of AHEPA, the quarterly journal of a Graeco-American fraternity called the American Hellenic Educational Progressive Association. Vournas also admitted that his original application for citizenship was denied by the federal court in Washington in 1923 on the

Child's Poor Behavior May
Be Due to Physical Condition

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Many children who are considered "bad" are really suffering from some physical disorder or nervous maladjustment. The fault is often—but not always—with the physical condition or the home or school surroundings rather than with the willful misbehavior of the youngster.

Physical causes may be responsible for "unusual behavior." A youngster may have a severe anemia resulting in lack of pep and inability to take part in the usual athletic and social activities. A condition called St. Vitus Dance, or chorea, which is closely related to rheumatic fever, is a fairly common cause of nervousness. And there are other diseases which can lead to undesirable behavior in a child.

MENTAL STRAIN

Mental or nervous strains from the environment are a frequent cause of bad behavior. Lack of sympathy and understanding, or quarreling between the parents produces a feeling of insecurity in almost all children.

Too much sympathy or "mothering" may cause just as much trouble as neglect and lack of affection. Overindulgence can produce nervousness and maladjustment as readily as can neglect.

Probably affection and interest on the part of the parents toward the child is more important to good behavior than a large number of mistakes in other parent-child relationships.

The physical and mental causes for nervousness and maladjustment in children are closely connected. In spite of intelligent efforts on the part of the parents, not all children will turn out well. Nevertheless, there are many children who get into difficulties who would turn out better if their parents helped them more.

Mrs. Ivan Kuntzelman, program chairman, has arranged for Magda Glatter formerly a native of Hungary who resides in Dixon, to speak on "What Are The 'isms' of Modern Art." Mrs. Glatter's charming vivacious personality, thorough knowledge of her subject and informal style provide enjoyable entertainment. She will unfold before the eyes of the audience the mysterious trends of modern art. Her program is as educational and entertaining as a clever act on the stage. She talks, sketches and molds.

Before Mrs. Glatter's talk, guests will be entertained by Trudy Ann Drummond of Ashton on the marimba.

Those interested are asked to wear entries. Mrs. George Schneider, an ex-milliner, and committee will act as judges.

The committee sees no reason for the exclusion of men in the contest—some of the world's most able milliners are men. So men trim up your favorite, be it slouch or straw. A suggestion would be a colorful gourds, with leaves of the grape and drooping carot. Express yourself, be it with a well scrubbed turnip on the rose of "Mirandy." For and chorage, carpet, warp, fish line, yo yo cards, rusty nails or fish hooks are nice. If your wife doesn't like your hat, that's fine. She isn't going to wear it, you are. Everyone will parade their entry to the Strains of Easter Bonnet.

Ladies are reminded when making reservations not to forget their husbands, and ladies and husbands, don't forget your hats.

Due to lack of parking facilities, guests are requested to fill their cars. Anyone desiring transportation will meet at the labary at 7:15 where cars will be furnished.

For Reservations
For reservations call any of the following ladies: Mrs. George Schneider, 326-X; Mrs. Robert Bressler, 83; Mrs. Ralph Leigh, 54-X or Mrs. Harold Carman, 11-X.

Notice to Oregon club members. For your convenience, the club treasurer will be prepared to accept your 1949-50 dues at the garden party.

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or margarine, 1 cup of sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, 1 cup diced fresh pineapple.

Method: Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream butter or margarine with wooden spoon or with electric mixer; add sugar gradually and continue to cream until light and fluffy. Add vanilla and eggs, one at a time, beating in thoroughly. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk, in 4 additions, beginning and ending with the flour; mix only enough to blend thoroughly each time — overbeating produces tunnels. If fresh pineapple has accumulated any juice while standing, drain thoroughly; add pineapple pieces to batter and mix. Turn into a greased 8-inch square pan and bake in a moderate (350 F.) oven for about 40 minutes or until done. Allow pan to stand on cake rack for 5 or 10 minutes. Cut in squares and serve from pan with pudding sauce.

THE STORY: Mrs. Margaret Malone, a widow, has just closed up her highway hamburger stand for the season when a gigantic trailer, drawn by a truck and followed by a sedan pulling a smaller trailer, stops at the place. It develops that the cook is leaving the woman who lives in the trailer. Mrs. Everson, Rudy, the uniformed chauffeur of the truck, offers Mrs. Malone the job. Somehow Rudy looks familiar to Mrs. Malone. In spite of the warning of the cook who is leaving, that Mrs. Everson is crazy, Mrs. Malone takes the position. Mrs. Everson says she is "a traveler" on her way to spend the winter in a remote, unsettled part of the country. This trailer, she says, is her home.

MRS. EVERSON had crossed the compartment and now opened a door in the far side of the vestibule which folded back upon itself like a fan, a compact and space-saving contrivance. Beyond, there were two rooms with an open door between: a kitchen, and a bed-sitting room. Farther back, another door opened into storage space and a lavatory. Everything was brand new, shining, of the finest quality, convenient, workable. The kitchen itself made Mrs. Malone's mouth water. She thought a chef from a swank hotel would enjoy cooking over such a stove, using such utensils within arm's reach of such a variety of spices, flavorings, condiments and essentials. The window, curtained daintily, now framed the familiar desert, the dark clumps of mesquite, the distant blue of hills.

"As you see," Mrs. Everson said, using the phrase again and with her own particular emphasis, "the room you would occupy has its own radio, a place for your clothes, a reading light."

She turned and looked directly at Mrs. Malone, as if searching for some clue to her personality. "You seem to be a sensible woman," she said. "Not like that fool who just left. I warn you, there won't be any amusements where I'm going. But I'll pay you well. Three hundred dollars a month. How about it?"

MRS. MALONE realized that she must make her decision quickly. Her mind tried to encompass all the evidence at once, but there wasn't much to go by. . . only these obvious facts: here, manifest, were wealth and power. Here was luxury. The expensive freedom available only to the privileged. . . Adventure, perhaps. Not Joe's kind. . . not the humane exploration, the search for truth.

This had something uneasy about it, even a little sinister, but also exciting. Mrs. Malone's senses tickled with apprehension and with desire.

"I wonder," she said, "if you would mind my asking a question? Is this a scientific expedition?"

Mrs. Everson smiled. Her long fingers caressed her thighs and she shook her head so that the heavy weight of hair swung from side to side.

"Not exactly," she said. "I'm going hunting. For peace and se-curry. Does that answer your question?"

"Yes," Mrs. Malone said. Suddenly, she decided. "I'll take the job."

"Very well. And please call me Madam. All of my servants do." A sensation of sharp anger rose in Mrs. Malone like a snake coiling to strike. She was, normally, an even-tempered woman, not given to resentment, but she despised arrogance. She controlled herself, now, with an effort. "Very good, Madam," she heard herself say.

She sounded so exactly like a professional domestic that she laughed inwardly. All at once she began to enjoy herself.

THE trailer swayed slightly when in motion, and there was a faint, faraway sound of deep-treaded tires. The outside world seemed non-existent; it appeared in flowing variations across the windows, but had no more reality than a series of pictures.

The interior itself was air-cooled. Mrs. Malone noticed the blurred whirling of small fans set in ventilators, and as she moved about the kitchen she felt wisps of wind that stirred her hair and touched her cheeks.

She was not expected to prepare lunch. An order scribbled on a piece of blue paper crested in gold called for dinner promptly at six, to be served in the "main salon." Chops, peas, potatoes au gratin, pears, cake, small coffee, mints.

And, as an apparent afterthought, but underscored: "For two. Myself, and my house guest, Marchese Dellacasa. Victor will set the table and serve."

WHO Victor might be, Mrs. Malone had no idea until, toward sunset, when the caravan bumped cautiously off the road and halted. Mrs. Malone saw the driver, quick, catlike, walking back toward the second trailer.

A few moments later her kitchen door opened and Victor entered her life. He was a Filipino, of medium height, young, with an immaculate skin and very black eyes and hair.

He seemed nervous, apologetic. "Are you the new cook? I am Victor. I am pleased to meet you." His English was impeccable, with a fresh, childlike enunciation. "Hello, Victor. My name's Malone."

Her cheerfulness pleased him visibly. He gave her a shy, quick smile.

"I'm glad the other one went away," he said. "Already she was scared and unhappy. But you are brave."

"Not brave. Just reckless," Mrs. Malone said. "You see, Victor, I'm not one to care much what happens to me. Now show me about the table. . . I'll help."

"Thank you," Victor said. (To Be Continued)

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, July 20—(AP)—There are mixed opinions on the stature of Justice Frank Murphy, who died yesterday.

But if any epitaph is needed for him this one would be true: He wrote well and he thought in terms of people.

His opinions had life and feeling. Compared with some supreme court opinions that have been handed down, his were clear and easy to read.

It is easy for a man, elevated to the great eminence of the supreme court, to grow far away from people and think of abstract principles.

Murphy kept his eyes on human beings. He had great concern for the rights of individuals.

His Philosophy?

This, perhaps, sums up his philosophy as well as anything: "The immutable rights of the individual, including those secured by the due process clause of the fifth amendment, belong not alone to the members of those nations that excel on the battlefield or that subscribe to the Democratic ideology."

"They belong to every person in the world, victor and vanquished, whatever may be his race, color or beliefs. They rise above any status of belligerency of out-lavry."

"They survive any popular passion or frenzy of the moment. No court or legislature or executive, not even the mightiest army in the world, can ever destroy them."

"Such is the universal and in-destructive nature of the rights which the fifth amendment recognizes and protects when life or liberty is threatened by virtue of the authority of the United States."

He wrote that in a caustic dissent when a majority of the supreme court upheld a U. S. army commission's death sentence for the captured Japanese general, Tomoyuki Yamashita, in 1946.

The Washington Post, which today discussed Murphy's place in supreme court history, acknowledges his concern for the rights of individuals but thinks he falls a good deal short of greatness. It says:

Not A "Great" Man
"In spite of his devotion to the cause of civil rights and his humanitarian spirit, Murphy cannot be regarded as one of the great men of the American judiciary."

"His special talent was not that of the judge but that of the crusader, and his record might well have been more notable if he had not attempted to recognize his humanitarianism with a judicial robe."

It's probably too soon to call the shot on Murphy. He was certainly sensitive at the times he lived in when the maintenance of civil rights every day becomes more of an issue.

He'll be quoted from time to time for years by lawyers, which is about the best legal immortality a justice can hope for although the passing years are unlikely to turn him into a giant like Justice Holmes.

We Soon Forget

References to him among laymen will grow infrequent in a few months. Most of them within a couple of years probably will forget the year in which he died.

And in a few years more his name most likely will slip out of the memory of the big majority of living Americans. And if you doubt this, ask yourself:

Who are the other eight justices left on the court now? Can you remember the names of all the supreme court justices of the past 15 years?

And yet this forgetfulness about some of this country's most distinguished men is, in a backhanded kind of way, probably one of the best signs of the country's almost inexhaustible richness in ability.

Men of talent, of great earnestness for public service, come out of comparative oblivion, work faithfully for the nation, retire or die, and there seems to be an endless stream of able men to take their place.

Lions Learn Playgrounds Activity Here

At the weekly meeting of the Lion's club Tuesday, Mrs. Margaret Swim, director of the summer playground program, gave a brief summary of the activities conducted on the parks. She explained that they use three of the park board's parks, Smith, De-ment and John Dixon, plus one school playground, Lincoln school as summer playgrounds. Each of the parks is supervised by a teacher; Misses Hazel House, Donna Hannegan, Mary Jane Boynton and Mr. Curtis Westfall; and assisted by high school girls; Misses Pauline Stimpson, Donna Cable, Jeanne Weitzel and Pat Wadsworth. In addition to these, the staff consists of a full time craft instructor, Miss Geraldine Lewis, and two boys, James Mercer and Donald Sproul, who helps with the AmVet program. The "seven weeks" program extends through August 12th.

The daily program consists of such games as checkers, bean bag toss, shuffle board, badminton, croquet, dodge ball, soccer games, relays, horseshoes, softball and many other. Each of the parks has a sandpile for the small children as well as jungle bars and parallel bars. Story hour is a popular time for all ages.

Main Features
The daily program consists of: handicraft instruction one-half day at each park, swimming activities at Lowell each Wednesday, city-wide special days on Fridays, inter-park and inter-park tournaments in everything from checkers to softball, the publishing of a park newspaper and Field Night at which time city championships are played off.

Cost Per Child
Last year's attendance over a nine weeks period was 14,500 child days. The cost of this program to the park board averaged approximately 16 cents per child day.

Mrs. Swim stressed the importance of this program in keeping the children engaged in wholesome supervised activities as a powerful weapon against juvenile delinquency and as a tool for teaching

Here's a Sure and Simple Formula for Getting Rich

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—There is one sure and simple formula for making a profit in America.

It is to ask a large number of people what they want and then mass produce it and sell it to them at a price they can afford.

I would be rich myself by following this easy formula except for one thing. Every time I ask people what they would most like to have they all say:

"Money."

And I'll be darned if I can think up a way to manufacture money cheaper than the government.

Want To Be Taller?

But up in Brockton, Mass., there is a plain-spoken 53-year-old Yankee who was cagey enough ten years ago to ask this innocent question:

"Would you like to be taller?"

And one out of eight men said "yes."

So Ben Stone did something for the "little man." He put a height-increasing shoe on the market. Now he helps grownup people grow up more—about two inches more.

Hitler, Too?

It really wasn't a new idea. They say that Alexander the Great who whipped the world and died trying to surround a wine jug, padded his sandals. They also say that Napoleon, a small fry with big ideas, fixed his boots so that there was considerable leather between his feet and the necks he sometimes walked on. And—sh-h-h! Hitler hiked up his heels, too.

"But of course we don't like to mention Hitler wore height-increasing shoes," said Stone. "We'd rather mention George Raft, Frank Sinatra, Bing Crosby, Al Jolson, Billy Rose, Humphrey Bogart, Rudy Vallee and Dick Powell."

Stone says he has put his "elethe children principles of Christian and American citizenship. She closed by raising the question, "Are these things worth the cost of 16 cents per child day for nine weeks?"

vators" on these gentlemen, and some 1,000,000 others in the last decade. He did it by perfecting a shoe which looks like normal footwear but has a thick cork heel that makes a midget feel like calling Primo Carnera "Sonny."

He discovered cowboys, for example, liked to wear them on semi-formal occasions when they couldn't wear their high-heeled boots. They helped a man from Texas really feel like he was from Texas.

"Oddly enough," said Stone, "it isn't the really small man who ordinarily wants to add a couple of inches to his height. A five-foot-two fellow adjusts himself psychologically to his height. He figures he is what he is—and that's all he is."

The Average Guy

"Most people who wish to be taller are men of average height—from five-feet-seven to five-ten. Often as not they are going with a girl who is an inch or so taller than they are, and they just want to get even with her. Or they want her to look up to them."

"How tall are you?" I asked.

"Five-feet-ten-and-a-half," said Stone, who stands up very straight and he added carefully: "In my stocking feet."

Absolve Sweets as the Cause of Tooth Decay in Animals

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

New York, July 20—(AP)—New Harvard tooth decay experiments challenge the prevailing belief that sweets, by making mouth acids, are a foremost cause of tooth decay.

The Harvard work indicates that only about one-fifth of decay is due to conditions in the mouth, such as the acids which nourish the germ, lactobacillus acidophilus, that is one cause of decay.

The rest of the causes, as seen in this new work, are internal; that is, what doctors call systemic. These studies were made on hamsters, rats and mice by Reidar F. Sognnaes, Ph. D., of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine. The nutrition foundation financed them.

It was found almost impossible to cause tooth decay in these animals by excessive eating of sugar, yet under two circumstances sugar caused a lot of tooth decay.

The sugar failed to do tooth harm when fed to adult animals, but when fed to mothers of unborn animals, the young had bad teeth. And when fed to the young, before their teeth developed, a high sugar diet again resulted in bad teeth.

Dr. Sognnaes said it still is not clear why the high sugar diet affected the young animals, nor was it even a certainty that the sweet was the cause of these bad teeth.

He explained that the high sugar diets were also highly purified. This means that they contained everything known to make a perfect diet for the animals, but with no added impurities.

Some minerals in very small amounts would be missing from a purified diet. Dr. Sognnaes said that although these trace minerals were not necessary for good health of the animals, it still cannot be said they play no role in sound teeth in the young.

SOME OF THOSE HUGE Rock River buffalo are going to have a featured spot in the conservation exhibit at the state fair this fall.

IVAN JOHANNES, Belvidere, who once pitched for the Dixon Legion, left-handed his way to a no-hit, no-run game last night while hurling for the Columbia, S. C. Reds against the Charleston Rebels in a South Atlantic league game. The Reds won, 2-0.

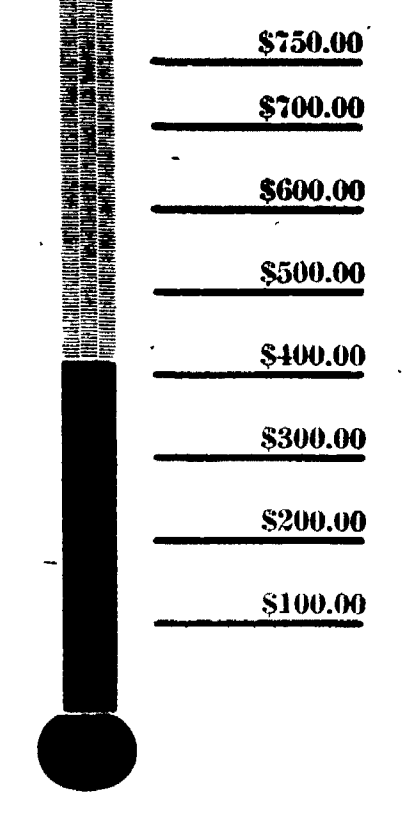

TWO HOLES-IN-ONE were fired within a half an hour at Collinsville Sunday. Both of them happened at the No. 8 hole on the Golfmore course. Earl Fedder got one and a short time later, August Paoli, Jr., fired his tee shot right in the cup.

YESTERDAY'S DIXON-OTTAWA high school game was marked by two balks. Bill Shumaker of Ottawa committed the first when he left the mound to throw to first and then held up. Jim Mercer of the Dukes was charged with one when in his windup he dropped the ball.

MERCER'S BALK PROMOTED a lively little argument. There were three balls on the batter. Is he given another ball and allowed to go to first base? The ball wasn't pitched. He was given first at any rate and a run was allowed to score from third.

INCIDENTALLY, it's probably an indication of how baseball is conducted around the North Central circuit when the Ottawa bus driver was enlisted to umpire the bases yesterday. The regular base ump didn't show so the stands were canvassed--ala the sand lots--with the bus driver being the only guy who would venture onto the diamond. And from his performance, he should stick to bus driving.

Do It Today!

The Willard Jones Memorial fund crossed the $400 mark today with the receipt of four more contributions. Latest on the list of almost 40 organizations and individuals who have contributed to the fund thus far are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Lahey, Forrest J. Trautwein, Supt. of Schools A. T. Lancaster and James Tosney.

Today the fund totaled $412.50, with the goal set for $750. There were indications that other organizations were ready to swell the fund. Meanwhile members of the Downtown Quarterbacks organization, who are backing the plan to erect a football scoreboard at Dixon high stadium in memory of the late civic leader, were about to place an order for the scoreboard, confident that the fund would soon total the cost of that instrument.

It is necessary to order the equipment to assure it being installed before the date of its dedication at the first home football game here. However, more contributions are needed. The many friends of Mr. Jones may send their checks, or cash to the sports department, Dixon Evening Telegraph. They will be acknowledged.

Dixon Beiers vs. Clinton for Tennis League Crown

Dixon Beiers' men's "A" tennis team will face Clinton, Ia., here Sunday in a match which will decide the championship of the Southern division of the Rock River Tennis league. Both are undefeated.

Meanwhile, the Fellowship club of Rockford has already clinched the Northern division crown and later will play the Clinton-Dixon winner match for the championship of the league.

The Dixon Juniors yesterday dropped a 5-4 decision to Clinton in matches played at Clinton. Here were the scores:

Henry Utley, Dixon, defeated Paul Kessler, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2. Billy Doss, Dixon, lost to Fred Leshner, 7-5, 6-2. Jimmy Schwitters, Dixon, lost to Bobby King, 6-4, 6-4. Benny Sage, Dixon, defeated Joe Saddler, 6-3, 6-4. Norman Stripe, Dixon, lost to Gerald Schoenhörster, 6-4, 6-1. John Vaile, Dixon, lost to Harlan Lynn, 9-7, 6-3.

Utley-Boos, Dixon, defeated Kessler-Leshner, 6-1, 6-2. Sage-Schwitters, Dixon, defeated King-Saddler, 6-2, 7-9, 7-5. Stripe-Vaile, Dixon, lost to Lynn-Hartzel, 6-3, 6-2.

They were the North Bend, Wash., duo of Irving and Floyd Peterson. Their accumulated time was 38:59.15. Today's leg ends at Little Falls. The derby will wind up Friday at Minneapolis.

Canoe Derby in Final Three Laps

Boatmen Minn., July 20 (AP)— Fifty-two canoeists were set today to run 38 more miles off a 150-mile running battle against fatigue, blisters and the clock.

The paddlers, making up the 26 surviving teams in the Minneapolis Aquatennial canoe derby, still have three laps or a total of 115 miles stretching between them and $8,000 in prize money.

Cleveland's Flagpole Sitter Can Leave That Perch Soon; Tribe Three Games Back

Cleveland, July 20 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' staunchest follower had the personal assurance of Manager Lou Boudreau today that he can desert his flagpole perch soon.

Charley Lupica, the druggist who vows he won't leave his aerial seat until the Indians are in first place in 17 years old today.

Last night Boudreau gave him a pre-birthday call to cheer him up.

"You'd be down pretty soon," the black-haired Tribe manager promised.

And after the Indians whacked the Yankees 7 to 4, yesterday, Charley felt pretty much the same way. The club now is only 3 1/2 games behind New York.

When he climbed on his pole outside his drug store, May 31, the 44-year-old man was in seventh place.

Last night was the second time Boudreau had called Lupica. Most of the time the Indians also have either called him or stopped by to say hello.

of the folks seem to be pulling for him. "Everyone is with me now," he said. "It won't be long now."

Drunks and cranks recently caused him to have his flagpole phone number removed from the listings. They awoke him at all hours of the night to argue.

In addition to feeling that living in a house might be good for a change, Charley has another reason for wanting to come down.

His wife is expecting a baby any day now.

The Ottawa Pirates, winner over the Dixon Dukes 18-3 in their first meeting, fell before the three-hit pitching of Jim Mercer and the long-distance swatting of the locals here yesterday 9-4.

Jim Mercer, drawing his first starting mound assignment, gave up just one solid single and two of the scratch variety. Meanwhile the Dukes unlimbered their heavy guns which included Mercer's own two-run triple in the first and Ronnie Helms' three-run circuit blow in the fifth.

The win was the second of the season for Coach Curt Westfall's nine and the defeat the fifth for the Ottawans.

Mercer, bothered with a sore arm all season, did a workmanlike job. Only wildness in spots caused him to get in trouble. Two of his three hits were scratches. One was a bad hopper to Davis at second and on the other Helms at short failed to throw in time to nail a runner at first. The only genuine bingle was a rightfield single by Davey in the sixth.

Bill Shumaker, Ottawa starter, lasted two innings. He walked seven in that period. Davis walked with one down in the first and went to second on Naffziger's single through short. Kelly dribbled one to the left of Shumaker, who threw over first scoring Davis. Mercer then swatted his triple to right scoring Naffziger and Kelly. Mercer scored after Nagy had walked and Shumaker balked in a throw to first.

The Ottawans whittled the lead to 4-2 with single counters in the second and third, but the Dukes scored twice in their half of the third off Gene Zuccarni who reaped Shumaker. Elliott singled and stole second. Fleasles was safe when Jensen juggled his ground ball. Elliott moving to third. Fleasles stole second. Phelps bunted and Elliott scored in the squeeze. Fleasles scored a moment later on Helms' single.

Elliott singled for the Dukes to start the fifth but was cut down at second on Moore's bouncer. Phelps then lined a hit to right and Phelps and Moore came in ahead of Helms' homer.

The game was called in the sixth because of the late starting time.

STERLING'S FIRST DEFEAT
DeKalb (Special)—The DeKalb Barbs handed Sterling its initial defeat here yesterday, taking advantage of numerous errors to score a 7-6 victory over the Warriors. It sent the Sterling nine into second place in the loop, one game ahead of third-place DeKalb.

After the Barbs shelled Max Baumgardner from the hill he was relieved by Charlie Deets. The Warriors also chased Starter Bill Ralh with Jim Mikus getting the credit for the win.

Ike Williams Favorite in Coast Scrap

Los Angeles, July 20 (AP)—There will be an all-championship hunt to the 15-round title match tomorrow night at Wrigley field between Ike Williams, king of the world's lightweight, and Challenger Enrique Bolanos of Mexico. There's Champion Ike, and Bolanos, who hopes to be champion, and the third man in the ring will be Jack Dempsey, onetime kingpin of the heavyweights.

Dempsey was named when the California Athletic commission got together via long range telephone and approved his selection. It will be the first major bout the old champ has worked out here.

Dempsey will referee for free, waiving his customary fee in behalf of the Lou Costello Youth Foundation, the poor boys' recreation center for which the fight is being staged.

Chances of lifting an $83,000 mortgage against the place seemed brighter today when Matchmaker Charlie MacDonald said the sale of tickets "has suddenly begun to boom." Last week MacDonald was privately worried about the attraction.

Last year when Williams out-pouted Bolanos here in a split decision, the pair drew $152,000.

Since then Williams has had nine fights. He lost two non-title decisions to Welterweight King Gavarn. Bolanos also had had nine bouts and won them all.

Both boxers, Williams, 25-year-old pride of Trenton, N. J., and Bolanos, 24, idol of Mexicans here and in his native land—are in peak trim. Williams is the favorite.

Are Yanks Near Collapse? Bronx Bombers' Shrinking Lead Now Only Three Games

This the start of that long-awaited New York Yankee collapse? Baseball experts, who vowed the Yankees would finish no higher than fourth this year, were that old wise look today. A good many of them were ready to give you that "I told you so" routine.

And they may have something there. For the Bronx Bombers of late have looked like anything but the league leaders they are. In losing yesterday, 5-4, to Cleveland, the Yankees extended their losing skid to three in a row. They now have dropped four of their last five games, three of them to second division clubs. Whereas they once boasted an eight-game margin, their lead has shrunk to three and a half games over the advancing Indians.

The Brooklyn Dodgers own the same lead in the National league--three and a half games over the St. Louis Cardinals. And that was supposed to be a tense, tight struggle.

The Trio battery of Pitcher Bob Lemon and Catcher Jim Hegan was responsible for the Yankees' most recent defeat. Lemon not only whipped the Yankees for the third time this year in racking up his 11th triumph, but hammered his fourth home run, with Hegan on base. Hegan broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

Duane P. Holt, the tall young right-hander, freshly arrived from Newark yesterday morning, was the victim of Hegan's blow.

The Boston Red Sox climbed back into third place, seven and a half games off the pace, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 6-4. Vern Stephens' two-run single highlighted the Red Sox three-run ninth inning that forced Starter Marinho Pierotti. Ellis Kinder allowed eight hits to register his 10th triumph.

The Tigers blow a 6-0 lead behind Hal Newhouse, but bounced back to eke out a 7-6 triumph over the Washington Senators. Three successive eighth inning walks plus a long fly by Johnny Lipon brought in the winning run. Virgil Trucks, who relieved Newhouse after the Nats had blasted the left-hander for five runs in the sixth, was credited with his 12th victory.

Four home runs helped the St. Louis Browns sweep a twilight night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4 and 5-4. It was the Browns' fifth straight victory. Jack Graham and Sherm Lollar hit four baggers in the first game, and Gerry Priddy and Dick Kokos slammed circuit clouts in the second. Roy Dellingher was the chief gun in the Brownie attack.

Capot has colic. New York, July 20 (AP)—Green tree stable's Capot, leading candidate for three-year-old honors, delayed his departure for Chicago today because of a slight attack of the colic.

Capot was scheduled to accompany Isidore Bieber's Palestinian to Chicago for the $60,000 Arlington Futurity July 20. Capot is now expected to leave next week.

Truman Says City Papers 'Over-Rated'

Chicago, July 20—(AP)—President Truman, speaking informally at a reception by Illinois Democratic leaders last night, said that Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president of The New York Times, has acknowledged he was "misinformed" when he told Pope Pius XII in 1948 that Mr. Truman had no chance of election.

The president said Sulzberger told the Pope he could "assure" him "that I wouldn't be in the White House after January." However, Mr. Truman said, when he later took up the matter with the New York newspaper executive, Sulzberger said that newspapermen "polled themselves" and "didn't talk to the voters."

"I shall continue to adhere to my naive beliefs," he added. "Without involving either of these gentlemen, the facts can speak for themselves. In June of 1948, when I last saw his Holiness with others present, there were only a few persons with whom I had come in contact who believed Mr. Truman could be elected in the fall."

"I was not among them. In November, however, my judgment was proved wrong, and it was not the first time."

Still Can Learn

"I am getting along in years, but I still have a chance to learn."

Mr. Truman said five days after the election, his representative to the Vatican, Myron C. Taylor, "who is an Episcopalian," called on the Pope and his Holiness asked why the president of the so-called greatest newspaper in the United States spent one-half hour of his time misrepresenting the election.

Twins, Home, Column Fill Ruth Millett's Busy Day

"Got an idea yet, Mom?"

When Ruth Millett looks up from her typewriter and sees a pair of tawny-haired youngsters in the doorway, she knows it's time to wrap up her newspaper writing for the day. Her twin son and daughter are home from school, and she'll soon be starting supper for her surgeon-husband Dr. Frederick Lowry.

It's a typical Texas afternoon, and we are looking in on the modern, ranch-style home where Miss Millett writes her daily column for the Dixon Evening Telegraph and more than 500 other NEA Service client newspapers in the U. S. and Canada.

Her eight-year-old twins, Peter and Lynne, know that one of the tough parts of writing a daily newspaper column is selecting a subject. They figure that once Mom has the idea, the rest won't take long and she can come out to be an admiring audience for free climbing, bicycle riding and assorted activities common to third-graders.

Miss Millett draws her subjects from many sources—her daily mail from readers, what she herself reads (five daily papers, many magazines, current books), and what she sees and hears in her daily life at home or in town. She is as likely to get an idea from the chance remark of a salesgirl as from listening to a women's club lecture.

You won't find that Miss Millett fits Hollywood's brisk and fast-talking portrait of a newspaper woman. She is more like one of your neighbors—perhaps the one down the block with the two children and the constant willingness to help out.

Attractive and slender, she wears her red hair in casual, friendly fashion. Her green eyes add a cheerful sparkle to her piquant features. And she greets you with an engaging smile, saying "Hello" in a soft voice made even softer by her unhurried way of speaking.

When you talk with her, Ruth Millett makes you feel as much at home as when you read her column.

Ruth Millett reads to twins, Lynn and Peter.

umn. It is this personal touch that she injects into her conversation and her writing that has made her one of America's favorite newspaper columnists.

In her columns, she tries to talk directly to her readers—housewives, mothers, daughters, teenagers, brides, career girls (and the men, too). The letter she receives from her readers indicate how well she succeeds.

"So many of the letters seem very personal," the NEA columnist says. "As though they were written to me—and not just to a name the writer picked out of a newspaper."

For this reason, she tries to give each writer a personal reply. The answers in her columns take the form of useful information of interest and benefit to all readers.

A woman in St. Petersburg, Fla., told her, "I frequently find your columns just fit my husband's thoughts and feelings. I cut them out and leave them around the house where he will read them."

A Cleveland women's leader remarked, "I wonder if you realize how often you are quoted in State Teachers' College at Maryville, Mo.

Here Miss Millett gained much of her early experience in the field of human relations. She was responsible for the social life of the college, helping to plan a variety of events. Then she became acting dean of women—when she was 24 years old—and in that capacity was counselor to some 400 girls.

A test on social usages co-authored by Miss Millett suggested the idea for a newspaper etiquette column. The result was "Social Situations," now a popular feature which she writes for NEA Service in addition to her daily column.

The versatile Miss Millett dipped into the soap opera field, dramatizing and acting in a radio series "Secrets of Happiness," for a Memphis station. This program stimulated a flow of sincere and appealing letters from women seeking advice. In answering their questions, the NEA writer built up a warm understanding of the problems of the average woman.

Soon after that, NEA Service asked her to write a daily newspaper column dealing with women's problems from the modern point of view. Ruth Millett's column was an immediate success, winning millions of readers all over the country. It was scarcely a year old when it was acclaimed "the outstanding column of comment by a woman" by the New York Newspaper Women's Club.

During the war years she wrote knowingly of the problems of families facing a changed way of life. She lived with her husband and twin babies at an army camp for a year, then waited at home when he was sent overseas.

Always Ruth Millett was a friend-in-need to millions of waiting wives—and an inspiration to servicemen, too. Three-fourths of her mail came from camps and battle areas—letters from lonely soldiers who wanted somebody to write to and hear from, V-mails from servicemen who "hashed over" her columns and wound up agreeing with her, and even some billet-doux from romantic sailors who liked her picture and wanted to marry her.

One of the Telegraph columnist's most treasured letters is an enthusiastic boost from a governor's wife. Another is from a coal miner in Pennsylvania.

Ruth Millett was born in Texas, but lived in a half-dozen states before returning there a few years ago. She spent her girlhood in Tennessee, graduated from the University of Iowa's school of journalism in 1934, then joined the faculty of the Northwest Missouri

Lucas Advises Health Is O. K.

Chicago, July 20—(AP)—Senator Scott Lucas (D-Ill.) said yesterday that his health is much better than some published reports have indicated.

"The stories about my health are greatly exaggerated," he said. "I am glad to come back here and exhibit myself."

He made the comment in reply to some reports that he might not seek re-election next year because of recent hospital treatment. The senate majority leader made no direct statement, however, about his future plans.

Both Lucas and Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) came to Chicago yesterday with President Truman to hear the chief executive's foreign policy speech at soldier field in connection with the Shriner's jubilee convention.

Mrs. Truman also spoke last night at a reception in his honor attended by Lucas, Douglas, Col. Jacob Arvey, Cook county Democratic chairman, Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, former Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Illinois National Democratic committeeman, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, and about 100 Chicago party leaders, newspaper officials, civic leaders, state, federal and civic officials.

King and Queen of Nudists

Bernard Keith Harding, his wife, Dorothy, and their two-year-old daughter, Beth Ann, 2, sit on the throne after being chosen king and queen from among 300 midwestern nudists gathered in Roselawn, Ind., for their annual convention. The Harding parents are deaf mutes. Their home is in Kentucky.

Prepare the Children for School Term

Dixon public schools, complying with a law passed by the Legislature July 1, 1944, requiring every public school student to have a complete physical examination at least once every four years, are requiring an examination record of every incoming first, fifth and ninth grader for the school year 1949-50.

For this reason, parents are urged, to take their children to the family physician, who is best qualified to judge the physical condition of the children. Such an examination will be made for a nominal fee, and a private examination by the family physician can be performed unhurriedly at the doctor's office. It is the best type of examination.

Urinalysis Test
When this examination is given, serums for immunization for diphtheria and smallpox will be available and may be administered on request in the physician's office. The examination will also include a urinalysis.

Parents are urged to complete these examinations during July and August.

Parents, when your child enters school this fall will he or she be able to:

1. Tell his full name, parent's name, address and telephone number?
2. Put on his wraps and fasten them, remove them and hang them up in an orderly way?
3. Put on and remove his rubbers without assistance?
4. Clean his teeth, wash his hands and face, and care for his nails?
5. Use his handkerchief properly?
6. Use the toilet properly and fasten his clothes?

F. X. Newcomer & Co.
INSURANCE BONDS
REAL ESTATE REAL ESTATE
Phone 162-168 Dixon, Ill.

7. Tie his shoestrings?
8. Keep quiet when someone else is talking?
9. Say "yes," "no," "please," and "excuse me," at the proper time?
10. Respect properly the care of toys and materials, and put them away when through with them?
11. Cross the streets without assistance and know his way home?

The first days of school will be happier for your child, easier on the teacher, and your child will more quickly adjust himself, and get the most out of his schooling, if he can do these things when he enters school next September.
